

REL - RELIGION

REL 101 Introduction to Religion (3-0-3)

Offered Fall and Spring Semesters

This course provides a study of religion and the nature of religious beliefs, practices and their influences on culture, history and philosophy.

REL 102 Introduction to Biblical Studies (3-0-3)

Offered Fall Semester

This course is an introduction to the contemporary analysis of the Bible, including its historical background, writing and transmission, its principal persons and events and its ideas and their significance for the present.

REL 201 Religions of the World (3-0-3)

Offered Fall, Spring, and Summer Semesters

This course surveys the major religious traditions of the world.